Novatel Wireless Files Additional Patent Infringement Lawsuit Against ZTE

SAN DIEGO--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Novatel Wireless, Inc. (Nasdaq: NVTL), a leading provider of wireless broadband access solutions, today announced that it has filed a lawsuit against ZTE Corp., a Chinese company, and ZTE (USA), Inc. for infringing on a key Novatel Wireless patent related to the MiFi® family of mobile hotspots and wireless data modems. The suit was filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of California. This infringement lawsuit is the second patent infringement lawsuit Novatel Wireless has filed against ZTE related to proprietary technology in mobile hotspots.

"Novatel Wireless is the inventor of the MiFi Intelligent Mobile Hotspot and we continue to lead the product category with a focus on innovation, best-in-class user experience, superior performance and advanced security," said Peter Leparulo, Chairman and CEO of Novatel Wireless. "We are committed to protecting our innovations and our intellectual property from those who take our proprietary technology," Mr. Leparulo continued.

Novatel Wireless holds numerous U.S. and international key patents and patent applications around elements of the MiFi Mobile Intelligent Hotspot family of products, a new product category invented by Novatel Wireless.

Since its introduction, Novatel Wireless' MiFi branded products have commercially launched with more than 25 operators worldwide and have received almost every major industry accolade for innovation.
